Studying in JCU is a good fit for me because it gives me the opportunity to take challenging classes that push me to my limits. It gives me the confidence in my problem solving abilities. The lecturers also encourage curiosity amongst students and encourage them to think quickly and creatively. Studying in BIT helps develop my breadth of knowledge across the subject areas such as programming, data mining, web design and development and many more. The program prepares students for careers in tech industries such as being front-end or back-end developers, Software Engineers, Data Scientists, Project Managers and for graduate studies.

I have successfully completed my joint masters program here at JCU. Studying at JCU helped me unearth numerous hidden talents. I gained a much greater perspective of the world. I made some wonderful friends from all over the world. And most significantly, I learned the importance of leadership and responsibility through the numerous leadership positions I held in the various clubs and societies at the campus.

Farzanah

Bachelor of Business and Environmental Science
(Majoring in Aquaculture) | Singapore

This aquaculture major at the Singapore campus of James Cook University is an integrated program that allows me to learn not just the science aspect of aquaculture but also business disciplines. My interest in aquaculture grew after graduating from diploma in Marine Science and Aquaculture from a local polytechnic. An internship at an aquaculture farm made me understand the hard work involved and how important it was to farm sustainably. I hope to be able to do my part in shaping the growing aquaculture industry in Singapore with a more sustainable outlook in the future.
